Stabilized Rice Bran

Fiber • Flavor • Economy

Rapid development of new applications for rice bran is being fueled by recent USDA studies which show that stabilized rice bran can be more effective than oat bran in reducing serum cholesterol. As an acknowledged world leader in the rice industry, Riviana has spearheaded the development of rice bran. In 1965, Riviana was the first to offer a food grade rice bran. In 1983, using extrusion technology, Riviana began producing Protex[®] 20-S, a nutritious, high-fiber Stabilized Rice Bran.
