

We're out to prove...

"Nice Guys Finish First"

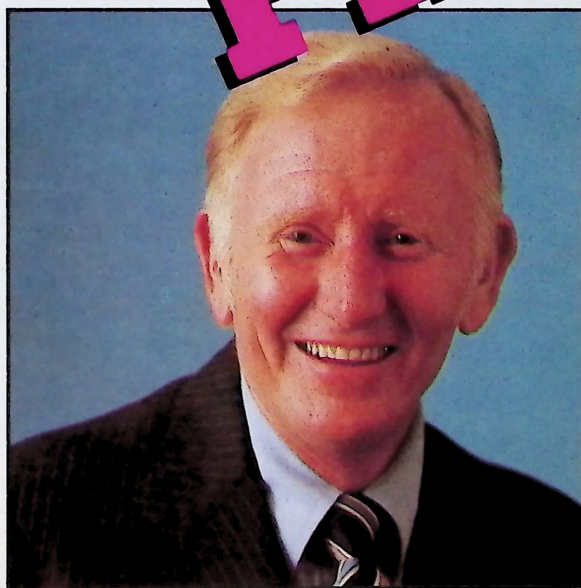

Bob McGrath, President
Miles Citro-tech Division

The citric acid business is just the place to prove our theory that nice guys finish first. And the men and women of Miles Citro-tech Division are determined to do exactly that.

Because we're totally committed to being first in citric acid. In every way, at every level. Committed to giving you more attention and better service in every way.

Delivery where you need it and when you need it. From any of 135 warehouses, coast-to-coast.

Citric acid packaged in the size that makes sense for your process. Whether that means a truckload, a 2,000-pound Citri-tainer, or an easy-open 50-pound bag.

Immediate access to our Tech Service Dept. for help with tricky technical problems.

And a real commitment to making sure you can get the citric acid you need now and in the future. Although our Dayton plant's just two years old, it's presently undergoing expansion to double its capacity. And we're already planning an additional expansion to redouble its output!

Miles entire Citro-tech Division is out to give you the best citric acid service in the business. We'll bend over backwards and tie ourselves in knots to do it. Because we really believe nice guys not only finish in first place, they stay there. Call us on it. (219) 264-8716.

Call citric acid by its first name... MILES
